

KEITH ANDERSON

Anderson Windows

Recently, Mayo Clinic Health Letter wrote an article on the power of connections and purpose which highlighted the importance of relationships. The article confirmed many things that we in the church know, but it is also a good reminder and challenge for ourselves. I want to share some of the insights I gleaned from the article.

Our Faith and Our Health

It is no great surprise to any of us, studies continue to show a direct relationship between religion, spirituality, and mental and physical health. Studies are revealing people who attend religious services tend to enjoy better health, live longer, and recover from illnesses faster and with fewer complications. If only we could get a discount on health insurance for being active church members!

While researchers cannot explicitly say why this appears to be the case, they do observe some significant results from our spirituality:

- Social Support
Churches have a built-in support system. Loving congregations support their members by building relationships and meeting the needs of its members. For example, when a person is facing a crisis, the church can be a resource to help meet the needs of food, shelter, prayer, and support. No matter the challenge we face, the church reminds us we are not alone.
- Resources for Coping
Church members deal with stress and the unexpected in more positive ways than non-church goers. Our believe in God enables us to accept and deal with things that are beyond our control. By turning to God, we are able to lessen our stressors that negatively impact our health.
- Wiser Health Decisions
Studies show church goers are less likely to smoke, misuse alcohol or drugs, view physical activity as a priority, and less likely to use weapons, get into fights, and engage in risky sexual behaviors.
- Forgiveness
Through forgiveness, we release the pent-up anger and resentment in our bodies. It also promotes positive emotions as well as reducing anxiety and blood pressure.

- Prayer and Meditation

Research continues to show prayer and meditation promotes relaxation which lowers blood pressure, heart rate, and breathing rate. Prayer is a place to release our burdens and find purpose in our lives.

Maintaining Friendships

The National Council on Aging revealed 90% of respondents to a recent survey believe having close relationships between family and friends is vital for a meaningful life. The importance of relationships is not a surprise, but the result of 90% believing in the importance of relationships was.

Research continues to show our attitudes and relationships influence our physical health. Social isolation can contribute to illness and overall poor health. Having strong connections to others yield many different benefits such as:

- Longer Life
A recent California study revealed persons lacking social connections were 2-3 times more likely to die younger than those who had those connections.
- Boosting Recovery
In reviewing over 50 different studies, researchers concluded individuals with no family and friend support had far worse recovery rates after a heart attack. The lack of social support carried the same weight as other factors such as high cholesterol, smoking and high blood pressure!
- Strengthening Immunity
Researchers agree stress weakens our immune system, and friendships reduce stress. One study found people with a diverse social network were less likely to get the common cold!
- Less Anxiety
Anxiety has been shown to increase the likelihood of sudden cardiac death. Persons with greater support are less likely to feel anxious. When faith is included in the studies, anxiety declines even a greater amount.
- Improve Mental Health
Social networks provide outlets for person to talk when going through difficult times, reducing stress, anxiety, and depression. Social networks increase your sense of well-being and self-worth.

Gift planning home page

If you need less stress in your life, we can help you. While the world changes and stock markets rise and fall, our mission continues, as it always has, to make a difference. But did you know when you make a difference with us, we can make a difference for you?

A Comfortable FUTURE

COMFORT YOU Want, DEPENDABILITY YOU Need

Imagine how good it feels knowing you have helped yourself even as you have helped others:

- A charitable gift annuity gives you payments for life at fixed rates
- A charitable remainder trust pays you at a rate you choose
- You can satisfy all or part of your IRA's required minimum distribution by giving to our organization
- All these offer tax benefits for you

While most of these options are simple to understand, there are certain requirements you must meet. Don't act until you have talked with us and with your tax advisor.

There is no better time to create or update your estate plan. When you do, you can wake up every day knowing that no matter what happens, you have provided for your family, friends and the causes important to you. There is nothing more joyful or dependable.

This information is not intended as tax, legal or financial advice. Gift results may vary. Consult your personal financial advisor for information specific to your situation. The names and images shown here are representative of typical donors and may or may not be actual donors to the organization. Under federal rules your benefits may be different from this example. Please contact us for your specific benefits.

Dear Friends:

Thank you to the many generous donors who made gifts the past two months, many in honor/memory of their mothers or fathers. Those gifts enable us to continue to accomplish our mission of "Serving those who served us".

Here are some mid-year suggestions to review on your finances:

- Are you current on your charitable giving?
- Have you made a gift to PASBF this year?
- Have you reviewed your pension and/or IRA deposits? Up to date?
- Have you reviewed your estate plan? (Hopefully you have a will!)
- Have you reviewed your RMD (required minimum distribution) from your IRA? This is important especially if you turn 73 this year!
- Have you reviewed all your life insurance policies and updated the beneficiaries?
- Have you reviewed your investments, like savings accounts, CD's, etc? In our area, some banks are paying around 5% on special savings accounts with $10,000 minimum.
- Have you considered a Charitable Gift Annuity from PASBF — receive guaranteed life income, substantial tax deductions.

If you have any question about these or other charitable giving ideas, please contact me for a confidential meeting.

Again, thank you to all our faithful donors for your generosity!

Serving those who served us,
 Edward R. Weston
 Director of Development

PASBF Is Here

The article covers many other benefits to a strong social network in our lives. These relationships help us to find purpose in life, opportunities to volunteer, to dream of new ideas, solutions to problems both small and great, and reaffirms we are not alone.

PASBF's mission is to care and support our retirees, spouses, and surviving spouses by focusing on the spiritual, financial, emotional, physical, and social aspects of our lives. PASBF offers many different opportunities for social engagement. Please go to www.pasbf.org for our completely listing of fellowship groups, trips, and outings. Strengthening your social networks can and will improve your overall health. We hope to see you all soon at one of our many gatherings!

New Retirement Plan Passed by General Conference

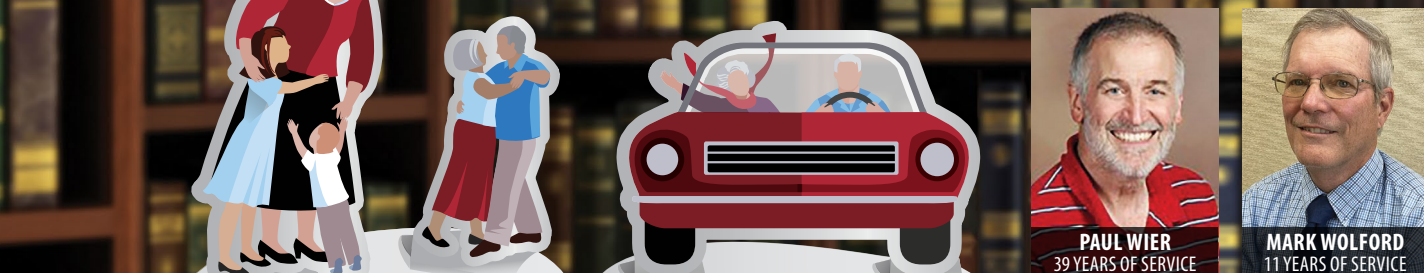

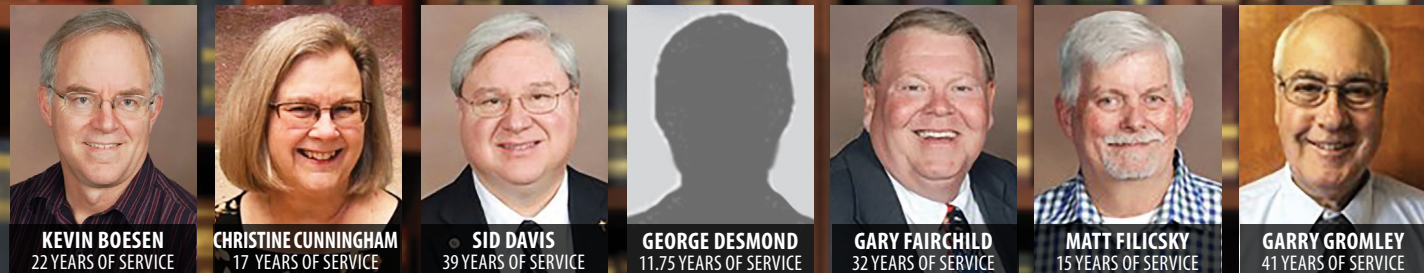

A new retirement plan, COMPASS, was passed by General Conference and will go into effect on January 1, 2026. In the next Society Page, we will explore the plan in greater detail.

Briefly, COMPASS will not effect any retirees receiving benefits prior to January 1, 2026. It will impact any deferred defined benefits and all active clergy. COMPASS is a straight defined contribution plan and does not have any defined benefit pieces to it.

Look for our next issue when we explore the plan in more detail, and highlight the importance of participant contributions!

Welcome to the next chapter of your life!

Serving those who have served us.
